

Distinctive Designs

Each of Dalila Spada's tiny teddies shows the artist's style yet has a unique personality. All the bears are fully jointed and have sculpted faces and leather paw pads. Adorable accessories add to the bears' appeal. A few of the designs available from Piccolo Bears in Berlin, Germany, are shown here. Each of these teddies is just 3½ inches tall. To see more, visit www.piccolobears.de.

Playing with his bunny cloth, he's one cute cub! Near right: "Tom" and "Ducky" are the best of friends. Made from mohair, "Tom" stands 3½ inches; "Ducky" is just 1½ inches tall. Far right: A 1½-inch character mouse is tucked under the arm of "Kai." Wearing a cotton T-shirt, the mini bear is made of mohair.

French Fashions

Hailing from France, Pascale Nowicki creates teddy bears with a tale to tell. Detailed costuming and accessories help collectors relate to each teddy. There's sure to be one—or two or three—design that hits home for nearly every teddy bear enthusiast. Just try to resist their sweet faces and friendly personalities! See more from Rêves d'Ours at www.revesdours.com. Photos copyright Antoine Kulka 🐾
